MEL ROGERS AND THE HOME TOWN PAPER

(Livingston Republican Press)
"Why, I have seen times when I haven't have given $100 for the Livingston Progress or the 'Claremont Messenger,' and that's just one of the smaller papers of the area." Will Rogers, syndicated humor writer said in comparing foreign papers encountered in his recent world travels with those of the United States.

"Take my ham away, take away my eggs, even my chili, but leave me my newspaper, even if it just has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night—unhappy and bloodied'—and 'The county seat was packed yesterday'—but they just won't pay me when they get well." The county seat was packed yesterday with prominent visitors from out-of-town, attempting to renew their ties and 'Election ain't far off and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'

"Now all that don't seem much to you. But it is news especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So no matter how punk you might think your local paper is getting, just take it away from you and you see how you feel. The old newspaper I think is just about the biggest blessing."

"So let's all read and be merry, or tomorrow the paper may not be enough, ads in it to come out."

GIVE FULL COOPERATION

We are glad to read that political leaders in the state legislature are now attempting to smooth over factional differences that threatened to postpone important business in favor of prolonged bickering. The trouble began over the fact that Gov. Comstock refused to file a statement of his campaign expenses. Probably he should have, although it is quite common knowledge a multitude of us may be and are often concerned in such reports. A group of Republican senators became red over the attitude of the governor and threatened to start impeachment proceedings unless the report specified by law was filed promptly. This thrust was undoubtedly a mere gesture but nevertheless the senators were wrong. Even if Mr. Comstock has failed to comply with all the requirements of the election law, the legislature has more important work on hand than going out of their way to stir up partisan dissension over some minor consideration. We notice that the senators received very little sympathy even from rock-ribbed Republican papers. Our own view of the matter (Continued on last page)

19 COUNTY PLEAS SENT TO R. F. C.

MICHIGAN POLITICAL UNITS SEEK $103,000 LOAN

Lansing, Jan. 28.—Applications from 19 of the 33 northern Michigan counties who will participate in the state's work relief program, were forwarded today to Reconstruction Finance Corporation at Washington for approval, James Sinke, executive officer of the state welfare department has announced.

The counties are seeking $103,000 from the RFC to finance road work during the month of February. Approval of the loan Sinke says will reduce direct welfare costs in the particular communities by a like amount, as the labor is to be taken from the lists of persons receiving direct welfare.

The RFC has just approved loans totalling $573,254 for direct aid Sinke was informed. The total loan is slightly less than the amount sought by the state for 41 political sub divisions. Where the federal board made its reductions Sinke will not know, he said, until the detail is received by mail, early next week.

The counties seeking the work relief loans and the amounts are as follows: Manistee, $6,000; Grand Traverse, $6,000; Emmett, $8,000; Roscommon, $5,000; Isabella, $2,000; Lake, $6,000; Crawford, $5,000; Charlevoix, $8,000; Leelanau, $7,000; Gladwin, $2,000; Alcona, $6,000.

Oscoda, $4,000; Presque Isle, $7,000; Clare, $3,000; Cheboygan, $10,000; Isosco, $5,000; Benzie, $7,000; Alpena, $6,000; Kalkaska, $6,000.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

Tenth regular meeting was held with Mrs. Thomas Cassidy as hostess.

After the regular business meeting Mrs. Flowers read several chapters from our book of study, giving other interesting events in the life of Grand Duchess Marie of Russia.

Mrs. Stanley Flowers was hostess to the Club on Monday evening, Jan. 30th.

Roll call. Business. The evening's program consisted of an interesting paper "Vagabond Children" given by Mrs. Gothro. This concerned the problem of hitch hiking youth of our country.

Miss Rosalyn Lewis very ably related to us the contents of the closing chapters of "Marie, Grand Duchess of Russia."

Next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. J. Salmon on Monday, at which time Rev. Salmon will talk on the subject "The Spirit of the Younger Generation."

Winter Sports Yes? No?

Does this weather look as if we're going to have any winter sports? Are we going to get our long looked for "break"?

The Winter Sports Association was organized two years ago with the purpose in mind of making all we could out of what Nature had formerly provided every winter—snow and cold weather. With our usual amount of snow and cold weather, we can have a Winter Amusement Park which will bring to Grayling an unknown number of people. Has Nature turned against us? Surely we hope not, and believing so, we have carried on—begging, borrowing and doing everything and anything to keep Winter Sports alive.

Have you seen our New Winter Sports Park?

Are you a member of our Association?

Do you think the organization is worthy of your support?

Have you helped as much as you could to put Grayling in the lead with Winter Sports?

Do you know we have built seven toboggan slides without anyone getting a single ride?

Do you know that we have 50 toboggans, 8 pairs snow-shoes and 12 pairs of skis for rent that have never been used?

Do you know that we have inquiries from five states as to the dates of our Annual Winter Carnival?

Do you know in the year 1932 that 66,000 people visited the Hartwick Pines? Why?

How many Grayling or Crawford County people believed that State of Michigan should spend $2,500.00 annually in maintaining the last stand of Michigan White Pine? These 66,000 visitors came to see what nature had provided—"The Pines"—not the log building there nor the gravel roads which lead one there. The Hartwick Pines State Park is only one of Michigan's 65 State Parks.

Our Winter Sports Park represents one half of Michigan's winter parks. Members of the Red Wing Ski Club of Rochester, Mich., and many other authorities on winter sports have proclaimed our Park to be the best of its kind anywhere west of Lake Placid.

Right now we are $300.00 in debt and we are making another effort to raise money to reduce this indebtedness by sponsoring one of the season's snappiest, scrappiest, funniest and goofiest home talent plays—"One Hundred Grand" with an all-star cast.

Watch for future announcements and dates.

A ballot box for your vote will be placed in the Post Office. Vote by Wednesday, Feb. 8th, 1933.

Do you believe in the continuation of Winter Sports?

ALL HUNTING CLOSED

Until October 1, all hunting seasons are now closed in Michigan. January 31, the last of the 1932-33 seasons ended with the close of the rabbit season in both peninsulas and the badger season in the northern half of the lower peninsula. The badger season south of Townline 16 closed January 1.

ALPENA WERE VICTORS FRIDAY

By the margin of difference between 24 and 26 Alpena took a ball game here last Friday night. Eight field goals apiece meant a battle from the foul line, and the Avalanche from the north got ten out of fifteen while the Northern Lights managed eight out of four-teen tries. There was the margin of victory in the preliminary around game from Grayling High's intramural league, downed a red-hot high school's court representatives by a 20-26 score. A good crowd viewed the activities.

Alpena's club played good ball to win. They overcame a 12-10 deficit in the half, changed their defense to cover Grayling's activities around the free throw line, came from behind in the last quarter, reshifted their defense for the final four minutes and went on to win. In the play of Potvin, veteran guard who hit his stride against Grayling last Friday night, the boys from the shores of Lake Huron found their inspiration. They have shown marked improvement since early season. "They looked their best of the season, so far," Coach Hastie declared after the game. "I guess they may be worth taking to the tournament after all."

As they played here Alpena will make trouble for Class B competitors, and Hastie had reason to be so well pleased. They put on a rousing finish to win and their revenge was sweet to them.

Grayling's club looked like a couple of million in the first half. They passed well and they made points. In the second half they seemed to have left their range-finders in the locker-room. They shot but it didn't sink. Calamity breathed in the very atmosphere and they couldn't manage the necessary points. Final exams for the semester cast a dark and dismal spell on the players and they dropped a ball game. It was by no means a disgrace, and the boys' first loss in the last five starts.

Frederic's rangey outfit, totally new to basketball, made a creditable showing. They couldn't quite cope with a team picked from the local high school intramural league. The leaguers didn't cooperate very well but had enough punch to win, even though one of the boys did get big-hearted and drop in a nice basket for Frederic. The youngsters were trying hard on both teams and the score was pretty close. It was a good preliminary.

OSCODA INDIES HERE SAT. NIGHT

The Grayling Lumberjacks will be seen in action on Saturday night against the highly-touted Oscoda Indies.

The Jacks have tried for two years to bring this team here but were unable to, due to Oscoda's heavy schedule, so we feel by securing them for this date the local fans will not be disappointed.

These ball-tossers in action, have lost but few games this year, one of them to the Jacks by a one-point margin in two overtime periods. Oscoda feels sure they can redeem themselves for this defeat and will be in full strength to give the Jacks a hard battle. Among their lineup you will find ex-college and high school stars who have played together in past years and have put Oscoda on the map as a real baseball town, not only in teams but in loyal rooters who pack their gym whenever they play, following their teams whenever possible and rank high in sportsmanship.

The Jacks have always been given a big "hand" while there, not only on the floor but everywhere they went and always look forward to a return game there. Let's be on hand to see this game and give the boys a good hand. Show them the old Grayling spirit.

DEPT. OF STATE

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Announcement was made by Secretary of State Frank D. Rowland Monday that use of 1932 license plates will be legal in Michigan until March 1. At the same time he advocated a reduction in automobile and truck license fees in future years when the state need for use of weight tax funds for the recondition of local highway tax burdens, has disappeared.

The decision to extend the legal use of 1932 plates to March 1, the limit allowed by the 1931 statute, was reached after records of the Department of State showed that automobile weight tax fees collected for the first 20 days of January, 1933, were $2,300,000 as compared with $2,444,000 for the same period in 1932. This decrease in taxes shows that it is becoming increasingly more difficult for vehicle owners to obtain funds to pay the present weight tax.

"Weight tax revenue is needed today by the state but the financial condition of the vast majority of Michigan citizens demands that they be given every possible extension of time," Mr. Fitzgerald said. "But every citizen who is financially able to do so, should purchase his 1933 plates as soon as possible, as practically all of this money will ultimately find its way into welfare channels by providing employment on our highways."

In advocating a sharp reduction in the annual weight tax on motor vehicles, Mr. Fitzgerald pointed out that at the present time all weight tax funds are returned to local government units for the retirement of highway bonds and the reduction of local highway, road and bridge taxes. Until the need for this local tax relief is past, he asserted, there appears no clear way to lower license plate fees.

"Citizens have shown that they cannot afford to purchase plates under the present cost system, but they can pay the gasoline tax," he said. "The number of automobiles in use on Michigan highways is decreasing at the rate of more than 80,000 a year, which means that high fees are depriving citizens of the use of their property and also depriving the state of gasoline tax revenue."

"I believe plans should be made looking toward a drastic reduction of automobile license plate fees in the future. Pleasure car plates certainly should be reduced and there is every justification for reduction of costs of license plates for trucks that are not engaged in commercial business, but are used in an incidental manner in connection with another business. In this class I would put trucks owned by farmers for hauling their own produce and trucks used by small businesses such as grocery stores."

"Such a law would see a tremendous increase in gasoline taxes and would provide welcome relief to more than one million citizens each year."

AN EXPLANATION ON PAYMENT OF TAXES

NOT NECESSARY TO PAY THE WHOLE AMOUNT UNLESS YOU SO DESIRE

(From The Boyne Citizen)
The following letter from Prosecuting attorney Fitch, is what the taxpayer will be glad to read: Editor Boyne Citizen, Boyne City, Michigan.

Dear Editor:
There is a quite general misunderstanding of the public relative to the payment of taxes. It seems to be the impression of most taxpayers that there is no way in which they can pay taxes in installments. That the whole amount of a year's tax must be paid in full or none at all.

This is not true. A taxpayer may pay to the Treasurer the whole of any single item of his tax as found and assessed in a single column of the tax roll. That is, he may pay his township tax at one time, his school tax at another and so on, selecting the tax which he has the money to pay and leaving the others to a later time. The Treasurer is bound to accept the payment and give proper receipt. Likewise taxes returned to the County Treasurer may be paid in the same way.

If the tax goes to sale, the state can only sell the unpaid portion of the total tax. It is true that this method of paying taxes imposes some additional work upon the treasurer, but it will be found that none of them will object in any way on that account.

It must be understood that the taxpayer cannot hand the Treasurer a certain amount of money and have it applied on his whole tax. He must select the item he wishes to pay and tender that amount as shown on the roll. All this answers the purpose of installment payments.

Very truly yours,
A. L. FITCH,
Prosecuting Attorney.

FREE FROM POLITICS

The candidacy of Grover C. Dillman, who is seeking to succeed himself as State Highway Commissioner, seems to have men with encouraging support from all parts of the state. Boards of supervisors in a number of counties have already endorsed his candidacy, and there is general indication this same sentiment prevails wherever his candidacy becomes a topic of conversation.

Such wide-spread sentiment is not hard to understand. Mr. Dillman has kept the department free from politics; the millions of dollars which is annually expended on Michigan highways, has been disbursed without one breath of scandal or charge of favoritism. His conduct of that office has been a refreshing part of Michigan's political history. There should be no question about his re-election.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

What this nation needs is less governmental competition in private business. Whenever government attempts political control of what is purely the private affairs of its citizens, the results have always been unsatisfactory. Successful business undertakings on a large scale demands trained leadership. This kind of leadership the government cannot supply.

We are now looking to business to rescue the country from its present situation. Governmental regulation of big business to prevent fraud and deception is necessary, but to go beyond that point there is always danger that business will be injured rather than helped. If business is to succeed in the great task that lies ahead, it should be allowed to work out its problems unimpeded. Complete supervision and control of business by governmental ignoramus means ruin. That is one lesson we need to learn.

The nation has been promised a "new deal" at Washington. No better thing could happen to the country than the wholesale dismissal of the giant army of job-holders who have fastened themselves upon the body politic under the guise of helping this and that industry. They have been responsible for increasing the cost of government six or seven times what it was previous to the World War, and their number is constantly growing. It will take courage, but unless a political party has the courage to rescue the nation from the evils of bureaucracy, that party cannot continue in power. The people have found how easy it is to bring about a change. They will continue to make these changes until official Washington heeds their demands.

ROSCOMMON WINS FROM LUMBERJACKS

Grayling Lumberjacks met their third defeat of the season at the hands of the Roscommon Ramblers by a 26-21 score on Wednesday evening.

The Jacks apparently were off their usual form as they consistently missed basket after basket and were only able to make but few tally. Roscommon held the lead throughout the game, practically. At one time the Jacks held a one point lead for a short while but the Ramblers soon came through and regained the lead. The scoring was close all through, the Jacks managing to keep within four or five points or less during the game. The Jacks hope a return game can be played here with them soon. Many fans from Grayling witnessed the game.

Last Saturday night the Jacks defeated Frederic by a 30-20 score. The game was loosely played by both teams, the Jacks missing plenty of their shots in this game also. The Jacks maintained the lead throughout and were not in any danger.

Unpaid Taxes Alarms State

EARLY CHECKS SHOW THAT TOTAL WILL BE GREATEST IN STATE'S HISTORY

(By Elton R. Eaton)

Lansing, Mich.—Michigan farmers, home owners, industrialists and merchants, unable longer to bear the tremendous tax burden heaped upon their shoulders by tax spending governmental units have surrendered the fight to maintain their possessions. The message of their abdication in the uneven struggle to make ends meet is written in the startling totals of unpaid taxes being reported daily to officials.

One state official declared that if returns on 1932 unpaid taxes keep mounting until the final day for county treasurer returns on March 1, the total delinquent tax for last year will exceed that of the total state tax collected just a few years ago.

The total state delinquent tax for 1932 as reported on March 1, 1926 amounted to only $1,796,816.34. Much of this was later paid. In 1929 the amount was $5,615,361.17. For 1930, the amount jumped to $6,945,937.47 and in 1931 it reached the staggering total of $9,192,992.62, as reported by county treasurers up to March 1, 1932.

There is no way of estimating just what it will be for 1932, but early reports from county treasurers indicate a most distressing condition among the taxpayers of Michigan. That the total may go to $15,000,000 or even higher is not a wild statement and when the figures are checked at the end of next month, it will tell plainly the plight of Michigan property owners.

Legislative observers have wondered why high state executives did not detect through these rapidly mounting totals year after year the distressed conditions of the taxpayers. But Michigan like the rest of the nation was riding on the crest of a tax spending orgy that seemingly knew no limit.

The spree is now over and the day of reckoning is at hand. The potato grower up in Montcalm county, the celery grower around Oscoda, the lumberman of Northern Michigan, the little home owner who have paid the bills for these "good times" in the past are no longer able to do so. That is what the delinquent tax reports say.

The one big question around Lansing at present is, who is going to pay for the last big carousel, where is the money coming from?

With a deficit in all of the state funds, a delinquent tax list that is mounting daily to a total that officials fear to estimate, state finances are providing no easy problem for those trying to solve it.

There is talk of new forms of taxation, but members of the legislature are wondering who will be able to pay any new taxes. Governor Comstock is proposing a sales tax. There are all kinds of schemes and plans for raising more tax money, but if one is to correctly read the minds of the senators and representatives, there is not much prospect of any form of new taxation, right away.

One prominent member of the legislature who started fighting for economy in days when others thought such a word was a joke, declared that he was sure the members of the legislature would not approve a single appropriation or vote a new tax of any kind until state expenses had been cut to the very limit. There is going to be no half-way work about the economy program the legislature has in mind and any bill providing new taxation will get nowhere until first there is a rock-bottom cut in state expenses, and that includes every institution as well as department.

With the discovery that the Stack Lumber Co. of Escanaba of which Auditor General Stack is an official, has thousands and thousands of acres of timber lands on the delinquent tax list to be advertised for sale this year, his action in suppressing the list for publication is now regarded in an entirely different light. His personal interest had at no time been suspected. The surprising discovery of his own interest in a matter involving an important official taken by him has caused no end of comment in Lansing. In one county the treasurer reports that the auditor general's company has delinquent taxes on timber lands amounting to over $10,000. It is stated that he has delinquent tax holdings in at least three Upper Peninsula counties. Not only are his taxes delinquent in these counties, but they are to be offered for sale in May. Stack insisted he took this action against publication of these lists as an economy measure. Now that the facts are available it is very evident to whose pockets the economy was intended to imply.

Members of the legislature are still waiting for the administration's economy program. While they are waiting, they are not letting the days go to waste however because of the fact that they are advancing legislation along economy lines recommended by the commission that made a study of state affairs last year. When it is all over with, one member of the legislature says, it will be found that much of the economy legislation will be that recommended by this commission.

Senator Francis Culp of Battle Creek has let it be known that he is not in favor of loading down the taxpayers with more taxes to pay in order to build more roads, more buildings and more what-nots to provide employment for the idle. Senator Culp declares that he favors less government and more individual initiative. "Take the tax burden off the people and they will soon find their way out of this condition. But to tax people more in order to give the unemployed work would be about the gravest mistake we can make," he declares. It is quite evident that the legislature is being divided into two groups, one that wants more money for public work to give employment and the other group opposing additional taxation for improvements in order to provide jobs. This faction seems to hold the predominant position.

DEPT. TESTING MINNOW HATCHING

Three of Michigan's fish hatcheries are now carrying on experiments in an effort to determine whether various kinds of shiners may be used as food for bass, bluegills and other so-called "pan fish."

Success of the experiments would mean a constant supply of natural food for fish propagated by the Department of Conservation.

The experiments are being carried on at the Wolf Lake, Comstock Park and Harrisville Hatcheries with golden, blunt-nose, black-head and lake shiners.

Lake shiners transferred from Lake Michigan, while considered as an ideal forage fish for perch and other larger species, have failed to propagate in inland waters, according to the results of early experiments. However, efforts on the part of the Fish Division will continue until it is definitely determined that further experimenting with these small fish is useless.

Last winter several thousand Lake Michigan shiners and several other varieties of minnows were placed in a pond at the Wolf Lake Hatchery. It was discovered that the golden, blunt-nose and black-headed shiners spawned and raised their young but the lake shiners failed to propagate. By fall the shiners hatched in the pond had grown from half an inch to an inch in length and there are approximately half a million.

The golden and blunt-nose shiners are considered by the Fish Division as excellent food fish for bass and bluegills since they do not grow large enough to endanger the game species in the same pond. If successful in its experiments, it may be possible to place adult shiners in the same ponds with pan-fish fry and fingerlings. The shiners, continuing to propagate in the pond will form a continuous supply of food for the game species.

COUNTIES NOT ENTITLED TO TAX

Counties are not entitled to aid under the statute levying a tax of 10 cents an acre on lands under control of the Conservation Department, the attorney general ruled Tuesday. The opinion, written for Rep. William Green, said distribution of revenue was limited to townships and school districts, despite the reading of act's title, "to provide a tax for county, township and school district purposes." The ruling asserted the language of the act should govern rather than the title, and that the language did not include counties.

Something like $10,500 is due to be paid on state controlled lands in this county for 1931 and a like sum for 1932, which was thought would be divided three ways, a third to the county and a third each to the townships and school districts in which the state lands were located. The ruling of the attorney general rather upsets the picture of county finances in that the county expected to share in the distribution to the extent of some $7,000 over the two year period.

Korean Headgear

Koreans are remembered by the tourist for their strange headgear. Each man has a close-fitting cap, over which is a common European top hat, its brim a bit wider and the crown small with ribbons tying under the chin. Women wear no hats at all.

SCHOOL NOTES

Scholastic standards in Grayling High have been raised again, with the final semester exams showing the result of more study on harder tests. Check-up of examinations through the upper six grades shows conclusively that a better grade of work is being done in all the classes. Studying the exam questions themselves indicate an increase of the thought question type, the question that indicate more than memory of the material, but rather master of the subject matter and the ability to use knowledge to draw conclusions and work out answers. More books have gone home in the last semester than any in the previous three years, and the quality of work done has improved correspondingly.

There is still a need for increased study, and further raising of academic levels. This is a gradual process and cannot be accomplished in a short space of time. However the benefits are worth the effort, and students realizing the transition period are facing stiffer assignments cheerfully. The basketball squad lost three members for the balance of the season, and the boys that do play Grayling can know are strictly eligible without reservation.

Some of our students have done exceptionally well this semester and an honor roll, compiled from the first half year's marks, indicate that many students have made enviable records. Following is the school Honor Roll of those with better than B averages, made out by Student President Kenneth Gothro under faculty supervision: Grace Woodburn, Corrine Burns and Beatrice Peterson have the only perfect report cards, with four A's, and the Senior class led the list in point of numbers on the Honor Roll. The Freshman class had only one representative and the Juniors three. Twenty-three students make up the Honor Roll. Their names and records follow:

In keeping with a policy of seeing school needs and meeting them, a dancing party was held after the Alpena game of last Friday night.

This party, sponsored by the Senior Class, was an answer to Grayling High's very obvious lack of social functions of this nature. No school parties of this type have been attempted for the few seasons, and the result is that students have had to go to public parties as their spirit dictated. This was a closed party, open to High School students and graduates of the Classes of '31 and '32. It was no attempt to compete with the public dance, but rather to include only students and those Alumni who are closest to the school situation. Admission of any Alumni at all is a very liberal policy as compared with practices of most other schools, and as these parties are experimental they may result in such a ruling. It is the desire to give faculty sanctioned parties for the school, and a high school atmosphere must be preserved. In all high schools are many students who are in the process of learning to dance and these functions give them a congenial group in which to experiment. Control of such a situation demands that the party be closed. The balcony was open to spectators and part of the fun for themselves what sort of a venture this is.

Grayling High is trying to meet the problems of students who as a class control little purchasing power by providing a variety of things that will offer them a well-rounded development in the course of their school experience. This means a certain amount of trial and error and cooperation of students and public. The Intramural league, a variety of clubs that include the Hi-Y, two Home Economics clubs, a Dramatics club, a girls' club to correspond with the Hi-Y, known as the Northern Lights, Boy and Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Student officers with regular school duties, faculty directed plays, inter-school athletic, orchestra, and two glee clubs are open to students, as a partial list.

The classroom work is the key-stone of these activities, and Grayling high can be more and more proud of the scholastic standards—standards that are still in the process of being raised. No school can be made over in a semester, or a year or two years. It takes time to build up, and the standard can slip in a remarkably short time. Exams for the semester ending last week were harder, and took more knowledge and thought to pass than any presented to students here in a school generation. More study has been done this year than in years past. The standard still needs fixing more definitely and Grayling should recognize this effort and cooperate with it. The students reap their rewards in institutions of higher learning and in general life conditions. With knowledge as an end that has to be met Grayling will have fewer students who never study except at exam time, and no problem with those who haunt the school house morning, noon and night, regardless of the fact that no activity that concerns them is in operation. Grayling High is making an effort to reach more of its students in more ways, and to build this on the sound basis of good classroom work.

Grayling High School's Hi-Y club has been entertaining visiting basketball teams in a very notable style, and a lot of worthwhile advertising has resulted from this practice.

Teams that come from a long distance appreciate a place to rest and be comfortable before the game. They are saved the necessity of doing some cold window shopping or sitting in a restaurant. Seeing this need the boys have provided a room, comfortable furniture, a radio, ping pong table, magazines, and a congenial companionship. There is a big field in school relationships to be pioneered, and the Hi-Y boys are right on the job. This entertainment has been extended to the teams coming from the long distances—Boys City, Lake City, Alpena, and West Branch and has been very much appreciated by the visiting players and school officials. It will have a beneficial effect on future relations.

Plans are being laid to continue this service to other schools during the District Tournament to be held here on March 2-3-4.

REPEAL SHOOTING PRESERVE LAW

The Department of Conservation will recommend to the State Legislature that the Shooting Preserve Law be repealed.

A resolution adopted by the Conservation Commission at its January meeting, says that so serious opposition to the Act has developed that there is a tendency to undermine public cooperation in many other conservation affairs.

Director George R. Hogarth, in asking the Commission to take a stand for repeal of the law stated that "While I am now recommending its repeal, I would not have you lose sight of the necessity of finding some way to make it worth while for many people to take a direct interest in the production, protection and year-round management of pheasants and other farm-type game birds."

Numerous communications and resolutions from Michigan sportsmen's organizations, recommending action both for and against the law were read by the Commission.

PLANTS NINE TONS TROUT IN STREAMS

A handful of statistics concerning northeastern Michigan trout streams is going to eliminate that old alibi "the fish weren't there" if handlers of the rod and reel return home empty handed from this section.

For the fish are there, asserts P. G. Zalsman, superintendent of the Grayling fish hatchery. And he ought to know, because he supervised the planting of nine tons of trout in streams flowing thru seven counties in northeastern Michigan during the past year.

Fingerling trout measuring from three to eight inches in length, 851,830 of them, have been planted. Many of the smaller fish will be of legal length by May 1 of this year, he said. In addition there were 3,000 adult brook trout from 12 to 14 inches in length placed in the streams.

The planting included 564,100 brook trout, 154,150 brown trout and 133,580 rainbows, all from the Grayling hatchery. They were placed in streams in Montmorency, Otsego, Oscoda, Crawford, Roscommon, Ogemaw and Gladwin counties.

A large part of the trout was placed in the AuSable, a stream noted throughout the world for its trout fishing. Including the AuSable, Crawford county has more than 200 miles of trout streams, believed to be more than any other county in Michigan.

Zalsman, besides his activities at the hatchery, is a collector of fish, and snakes found in Michigan. He has 90 jars of specimens preserved, and is planning to complete the collection soon.—Roscommon Herald News.

FISH ARE BEING TAKEN FROM HOUGHTON LAKE AT AN ALARMING RATE

The spearing and catching of fish through the ice with set lines is causing no little controversy at Houghton Lake these days. With employment scarce there is now approximately 300 fish shanties scattered over the lake and thousands of fish are being taken out. A survey made last week indicates that not so many fish are being taken with the spear but the ice line seems to be raising havoc. Under the present law a fisherman can use five lines and in some instances lately families have been found on the lake looking after as many as thirty lines. This class of fishing that is causing resort owner and business men some concern and the fact that so many fishermen are commercializing the sport by peddling and selling their catches.

The controversy occasioned the calling of a meeting of the executive committee and a few members of the Houghton Lake Chamber of Commerce at the W. S. Bebee cottage at The Heights last Saturday night when the matter of winter fishing was discussed with Senator Ben Carpenter, member of the conservation committee of the state senate, and Mert McClure district conservation supervisor. While the conservation committee of the Chamber of Commerce is not strongly opposed to the spear it does favor limiting the number of ice lines that one person can use to two, instead of five as at present, and putting the pike on a par and giving him the same protection as other game fish, and encouraging his propagation by the state the same as with wall-eyes, perch and bass.

There is no denying that fishing thru the ice provides some real sport for a large group of people when there are few red letter days on the outdoor man's calendar and means fish dinners for many needy families, but on the other hand pike is too valuable a fish in enticing summer tourists to our lakes and streams to be sacrificed needlessly. There is no need to permit more lines in fishing thru the ice in the winter time than fishing from a boat in the summer time and five pike in a day are enough for any family at any season of the year.—Roscommon Herald News.

Mr. Joseph Douglas is not improving.

Elmer Bowman's little boy Douglas is quite sick, but reported as improving.

The Douglas Co. suspended work on account of no logs. The deep snow makes logging disagreeable and should we get any more snow some of the lumbermen will be obliged to abandon logging.

Charley Miller's hens are not in the trust. They are independent, faithful and generous, turning out a liberal supply of eggs each day and doing what they can to bring down the price of provisions.

The Midland County land to be offered, about 2,800 acres, is several miles east and southeast of the Eastern Extension of the main field. Three small tracts having a total of 20 acres will be offered in Muskegon County.

Fish Not Immune to Cold
Fish, like other cold-blooded animals, including reptiles and amphibians, are poikilothermic; that is, their body temperatures are directly influenced by the temperature of the surrounding medium. Consequently, they can be subjected to very low temperatures and still survive. However, if a fish were placed in ice for a sufficient length of time, it could undoubtedly be frozen to death.

Why the Yawn

A certain amount of oxygen is needed in our blood. If, through faulty ventilation, or because of bodily disorders, we are not taking sufficient oxygen from the air through our breathing process, nature provides a safety valve—the yawn. This sudden rush of air temporarily meets the requirements of the blood. The impulse for the yawn originates in the brain.

Chancellor Chamberlain Says Great Britain Wants War Debt Cancellation—Inflationists Lose in the Senate—Lame Duck Amendment Ratified.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Chancellor Chamberlain

GREAT BRITAIN has been invited to discuss with the United States the war debts with a view to revision, and possible reduction. The invitation having been extended by the Hoover administration with the almost certain concurrence of President-Elect Roosevelt. The conference, if the British accept, will be held in March; and it will be followed immediately by similar conferences with the nations that are not in default in payment to this country, namely, Italy, Lithuania, Czechoslovakia, Finland and Latvia. But Secretary of State Stimson, in sending out the invitations, omitted France, Belgium, Poland, Hungary and Estonia, the nations that have defaulted; and this, too, it is understood, met with the approval of Mr. Roosevelt who will be President when the negotiations are under way.

However there were indications in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt will have arranged separate conferences with the defaulters. England is especially interested in having France included in such arrangements as, "he made, believing a final settlement of debt and economic subjects cannot well be reached unless France is taken into account."

Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democratic floor leader in the house, seemed to be roused by the news.

"The conferences won't amount to anything," in my opinion," Rainey said, "because the American people are not going to stand for a reduction in the debts."

"The debt conferences should be linked with the world economic conference. The thing to do is to bring about a removal of international trade barriers so that trade can be revived. The conferences already projected, hold only a possibility of opening up trade routes and giving the debtors a chance to pay."

England accepted the invitation, and her stand on the war debt question was stated plainly by Chancellor Neville Chamberlain in an address before the Leeds Chamber of Commerce. Briefly, the British government will ask either cancellation or reduction so drastic that it will almost amount to the same thing. If this cannot be obtained, said Chamberlain, the settlement reached must be final and must not involve resumption of the German reparations. "To disturb the Lausanne agreement," he said, "would be to reopen old wounds and to destroy for an indefinite period all prospect of agreement on matters affecting the happiness and prosperity not merely of Europe but of the whole world."

Undertaking to explain the matter to "the farmer of the Middle West," the chancellor said that if the war debts payments were to be resumed they could not be made by loans or by further shipments of gold. "Effective means of paying," he continued, "would have to be found and they could only be found by increasing sales of foreign goods to America or what would come to the same thing, by diminishing purchases from America."

THERE will be no more lame duck sessions of congress, for the Twentieth amendment to the Constitution has now been ratified by more than 38 states and will go into effect October 16 next. Action by the Missouri legislature clinched it, and several other legislatures came into line the same day. Under this amendment both senators and representatives assume office on January 3 following their election. The President and Vice President take office on January 20 following election. The newly elected congress is automatically called into session on January 3 and on the same date one year later. The changes do not affect the terms of Hoover and Curtis or any member of the present congress.

Adoption of the amendment is something of a personal victory for Senator Norris of Nebraska, who fought for it through many years. It was passed by the senate several times, but always previously was blocked in the house.

INFLATIONISTS are becoming more vociferous and apparently more numerous daily in Washington, but at this writing they have not got anywhere. Their first big effort was put forth during debate on the Glass banking bill in the senate. Wheeler of Montana, independent Democrat, offered an amendment providing for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of fifteen to one—the old formula of William Jennings Bryan—and Huey Long of Louisiana proposed another amendment authorizing the government purchase of silver and stabilization at approximately 14.33 to 1.

After violent discussion both these schemes were defeated by a vote of 53 to 18 in each case. During the debate Senator Tom Connally of Texas increased the perplexity of the senate by announcing he was preparing a measure to debase the gold content of the dollar by one-third and perhaps, if it were constitutional, to forbid individuals making contracts calling for payment in dollars of current weight and fineness. Both Senator Glass and Senator Fess argued strongly against all the inflation proposals, as did Reed of Pennsylvania.

After being badly mangled by amendments the Glass banking bill was passed by the senate. Its fate in the house is problematical.

FARMERS are to have the opportunity of borrowing $100,000,000 from Uncle Sam with which to produce this year's crops, unless the bill passed by congress is killed by a Presidential veto. The measure makes available the sum named of the unused balance of $200,000,000 of R. F. C. funds allocated to agriculture. The loans will be made for planting, following and cultivation, and the secretary of agriculture is empowered to exact from borrowers agreements to reduce acreage not to exceed 30 per cent. One million dollars is allocated for feed for farm live stock in drought and storm-stricken areas.

Farm bloc members of congress defended the bill, asserting there would be widespread suffering on the farms unless such loans were authorized. Many members, however, attacked it as paternalistic, socialistic and bound to increase farm product surpluses. Snell of New York, minority leader, declared it was utterly inconsistent with the pending domestic allotment measure, the purpose of which is to increase farm product prices and decrease acreage.

The senate agriculture committee began hearings on the domestic allotment bill Wednesday, hoping they would be completed in a week or so. The same arguments for and against it that were heard in the house were repeated.

MR. ROOSEVELT, in Warm Springs after his inspection of Muscle Shoals, was busy studying the problems that will come before him and conferred with many notable men of his party and a few who are not of that persuasion. Among his callers were several who, according to the cabinet makers, have good chances of being offered portfolios. Among these was Bronson Cutting, Sen. Cutting the senator from New Mexico who halted the Republican ticket last fall and helped elect Roosevelt. The gossip was that he would be made secretary of the interior if he were willing to accept the place. Senator Cutting was accompanied on his visit by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin.

Bernard M. Baruch of New York, chairman of the emergency national transportation committee, also was in Warm Springs helping the President-Elect prepare his program and giving advice especially on the railroad situation. There was talk that he might be appointed secretary of state, probably the only cabinet position he would take, though many still thought that position would go to either Senator Walsh of Montana, Owen D. Young or Norman Davis. Mr. Roosevelt told the correspondents he might announce one cabinet choice before going on his yacht trip, but no more than one. Presumably that will be Jim Farley, who it is conceded will be postmaster general.

PRESIDENT HOOVER vetoed the first deficiency bill, carrying appropriations of $31,000,000 and the house upheld his action, the vote being 192 to 158. The President disapproved of the measure because he and Attorney General Mitchell held unconstitutional a provision placing control of all substantial refunds from income, gift and inheritance taxes in the hands of a joint congressional committee. Senator McKellar indicated that he would make another attempt to remove control over refunds from the treasury.

ELIMINATION of the citizen's military training camps as an economy move was rejected by the house, which added $2,500,000 to the War department appropriation bill to insure their continuance. Also $500,000 was added to the appropriation for the reserve officers' corps. The measure was then passed.

The senate finance committee reported the house beer bill amended to include wine and to provide 3.05 per cent alcoholic content. This measure may get through congress before adjournment but probably will be vetoed if it does.

PLANS for the inaugural of Mr. Roosevelt are rapidly nearing completion and the stand from which the new President and other dignitaries will review the parade is being constructed. The inaugural committee, headed by Rear Admiral Cary D. Grayson, is really arranging for quite a big show despite the request of Mr. Roosevelt that the affair be simple and inexpensive. The committee decided that the parade should be limited to about 10,000 marchers who will take two hours to pass the stand. As now planned it will be in four divisions led by General Pershing as grand marshal.

ALEXANDER, the handsome young king of Yugoslavia, accompanied by Queen Marie and his foreign minister, Bosko Jeffich, spent the week in Rumania visiting King Carol at the latter's country place, Sinaia palace. Officially it was just a family visit, Marie being Carol's sister, but the correspondents said it was for the purpose of seeking a common front on the question of equal armaments, due to come up for discussion in Geneva on January 31. The little entente powers, which include these two nations and Czechoslovakia, did not like the action of the great powers in giving Germany judicial equality in armaments without consulting the little, entente, and they propose now to demand more consideration when important matters come up in Geneva.

King Alexander

King Alexander was especially anxious to get Rumania's backing on a protest which Yugoslavia plans to raise against Italy's alleged pouring of machine guns and munitions into Hungary through Austria.

Diplomats in Bucharest said an important side-issue of the royal visit would be a private conference concerned with the problem of restoration of former King George as the ruler of Greece. Such restoration, it was explained, would be immensely valuable to Yugoslavia, since a friendly Greek government would secure use of Saloniki harbor for Yugoslavia should circumstances demand.

SOUTH AMERICA'S two unofficial wars attracted considerable attention during the week. Colombia sent a joint note to signers of the Kellogg pact asking that they call upon Peru not to violate the treaty at Leticia, toward which a Colombian flotilla was steaming to recapture the town from the Peruvian Nationalists who seized it some time ago. The place was ceded to Colombia by Peru under a treaty signed in 1922. The Peruvian government asked the League of Nations to order suspension of "all measures of force" in the Leticia area.

Secretary of State Stimson hurriedly called to his home the diplomatic representatives of the powers signatory to the Kellogg pact to consider this critical situation. He then sent a note to Peru invoking the pact and making it plain that the United States considered Peru was in the wrong in the dispute.

Bolivians and Paraguayans were fighting desperately for possession of Fort Nanawa in the disputed Gran Chaco and both sides claimed the advantage. The battle lasted for days and the casualties were numerous.

REPORTS from Tokyo said the Japanese cabinet had decided that Japan's withdrawal from the League of Nations was inevitable and had instructed Yosuke Matsukata to restate his country's position in regard to Manchuria and then leave Geneva for home.

Foreign Minister Yasuoka Uchida was understood to have informed the cabinet that application of paragraph four of article fifteen by the league, under which recommendation for definite action in the Manchurian dispute can be made, appeared almost certain. The cabinet, it was said, agreed that this would be followed by condemnation of Japan's action in recognizing the Manchukuo independent government headed by Henry Pu Yi, the former emperor.

PRESIDENT EAMON DE VALERA won a smashing victory in the Irish Free State elections, his party gaining votes everywhere at the expense of that of William Cosgrave, his chief opponent.

NIGHT FLIGHT

(By Antoine de St-Exupery)

Interweaving the themes of duty and discipline in "Night Flight," Antoine de St-Exupery, with the tumultuous skies of South America for background, relates a vivid tale of air mail transportation. The book, awarded the Femina prize of France, was recently accorded honor in this country as a selection of the Book-of-the-Month club.

There is no style to this new work of the French pilot-author. He writes from the heart, rather than from the dictionary. His words take form to simple meaning, imparting the higher ideals of "truth, beauty and goodness."

Seen by the author and expressed in "Night Flight," there is a constant struggle between the exacting measures of duty and achievement and the individual's happiness. Through his center character, Riviere, this clash of ethical ideas is portrayed: "For action and individual happiness have no truck with each other; they are eternally at war. This woman, too, was championing a self-centered world with its own rights and duties, that world where a lamp shines at nightfall on the table, flesh calls to mated flesh, a homely world of love and hopes and memories."

Tragedy enters the story, but it is neither the tragic misadventure of the mail carrier, Fabien, nor the hazards of night flights that centers the reader's attention. It is on Riviere, who safely awaits at the airport, that the emotional theme is based; and the greater truth, that it often takes more courage to give orders than to receive and obey them.

"Night Flight" is not passively penned; yet, it is not courageously heroic. It contains something of "muffled dynamite" motivating both story and characters with a vibrancy that is thorough. The plot moves easily, bringing the reader from airport to open skies, and again, to minor, every-day problems of the maintenance of service. With brevity the author impresses all the emotions of a colorful occupation upon the reader's consciousness.

Antoine de St-Exupery is himself a pilot, transporting mail in that desolate country of the Rio de Oro. To his fellow carriers he has become, by his daring and strict attention to duty, a legend of the service. Rigors of the day over, he turns to writing and is now an accepted figure of French letters. "Night Flight" is his second novel.

Things Look Different in COLD BLACK TYPE

"I HEAR," said the friend, "that you have just made $50,000 in the insurance business."

"Right—except for one or two slight particulars. It was real estate—not insurance. It was $75,000, not $50,000. And I didn't make it—I lost it!"

Has it ever happened to you that something you've told an acquaintance comes back, after many days, so distorted that you hardly recognize it? The spoken word so changes and colors much that we say, that by the time it passes many lips only the skeleton of truth remains.

But how different it is with the 'printed word! That is why you can trust the advertisements. Had you thought of it that way? Because the manufacturer and merchant are compelled to be accurate in type, you know that the quality of soap, ginger ale, clothing, butter or furniture you buy is as standardized as the calendar. It's all the manufacturer and retailer claim for it. It has to be!

Read the advertisements. Read them carefully, critically. Read them for profit. Read them knowing that the truth pays...you and the advertiser!

Canning pork is an economical method of having a sufficient supply of meat on hand. Only clean, fresh products should be canned, but this does not mean only the choicest cuts, as canning is a practical way of making the cheap cuts tender.

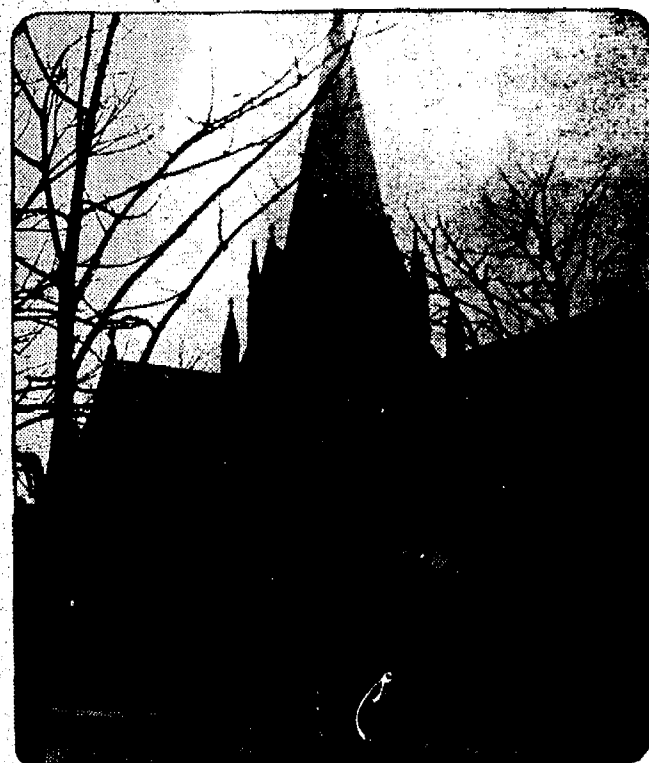

Steam pressure cooking is recommended for pork, according to Miss Muriel Dundas, home economics extension nutrition specialist of Michigan State College. A pressure of 15 pounds (250F) is needed. Water-bath, live-steam, oven, and open-kettle methods of canning will produce a temperature of only about 212 degrees F, which is too low to sterilize meat thoroughly.

Select meat which is fresh and in good condition, wipe on damp cloth, and remove excess fat, cut into pieces suitable for placing in containers. Simmer in water or place in over until meat is thoroughly heated and redness disappears. Pack into containers while hot, and liquid enough to fill container within one-half inch of top. The liquid may be the broth in which the meat simmered or pan drippings which are not dark brown and are diluted with boiling water. About one teaspoon salt per pint is recommended.

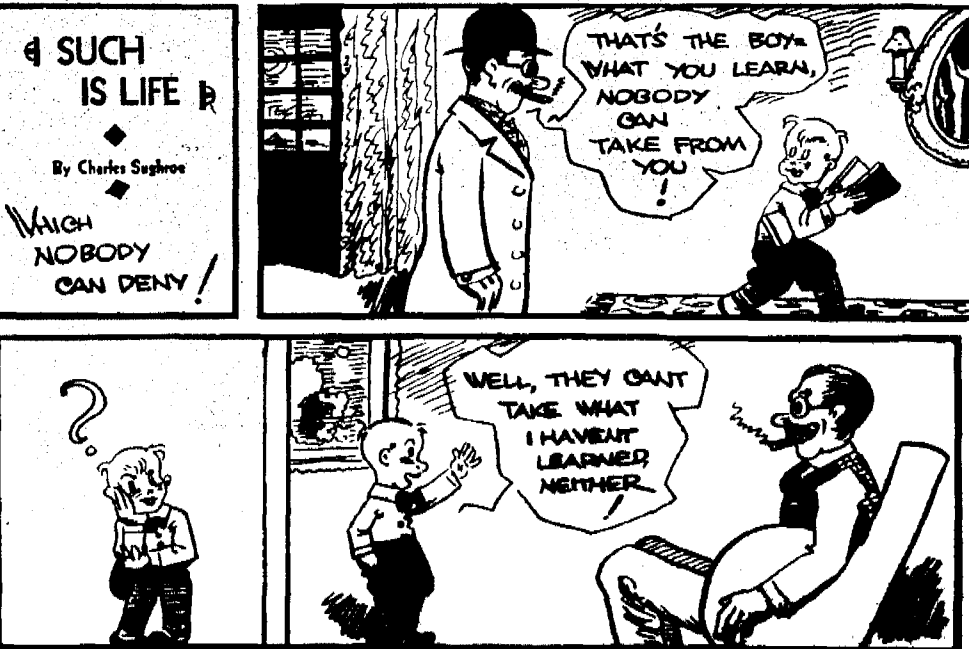

Completely seal tin cans at once, or partly seal glass jars, and place in pressure cooker immediately.

ately before meat has cooled. Process at 15 pounds pressure as follows: pint glass jars and No. 2½ plain tin cans, 60 minutes; No. 2 plain tin cans, 60 minutes. With No. 2 and 2½ tin cans, the petcock is opened as soon as processing period is over to allow the steam to escape. Place cans in cold running water, or change water frequently until cans have cooled. With No. 3 tin cans or pint glass jars, the steam gauge must go to zero before the petcock is opened. Too rapid lowering of pressure surrounding the jars will draw the liquid out of the jars.
